PESTICIDE FACTSHEET

What is a pesticide?

Pesticides include insecticides, herbicides, fungicides, rodenticides, disinfectants, sanitizers, and household pest-controlling chemicals.

Who uses pesticides?

Pesticides are used by a variety of professionals in the workplace and in residential settings; user groups include:

- Farmers and growers
- Pest control services
- Health care personnel
- Landscape gardeners
- Janitorial companies
- Restaurants

Residents also use a variety of pesticides, including cleaning products and insect and garden sprays used in and around your home.

What to do if exposed to a pesticide

- In case of emergency, call 911 or go to the nearest hospital. Make sure to let them know about the potential pesticide exposure.
- If you can, take the label or product with you to the hospital.
- Check the pesticide label first aid directions for that product.
- If ingested, do not force vomit unless instructed to by the label or 911 operator.
- If inhaled, move the person to fresh air, if safe for you to do so.
- If the pesticide is on the skin or eye, wash with clean water thoroughly. Remove contaminated clothes immediately.
- Keep contaminated clothes separate from clean clothes and wash separately.
- Call your doctor and contact the free hotline for the Poison Control Center: (800) 222-1222.

Contact Information

- Find your local County Agricultural Commissioner by calling (877) 378-5463
- For illness or injury:
  - California Poison Control Center: (800) 222-1222
- For information on pesticides:
