San Joaquin Valley

What: Check Before You Burn

When: Through February

Where: San Joaquin Valley Air District

Info: The Check Before You Burn program is in its 15th Season and air district officials remind residents to check before using their residential wood burning device. During winter, the largest source of particulate pollution comes from residential wood burning. Check Before You Burn runs through the end of February. The Air District issues a daily wood-burning status by county. Daily burn statuses are available by calling 1-800-766-4463, by downloading the free iPhone app "Valley Air" from the App Store, or Valley residents may sign up for email notifications by visiting www.valleyair.org/CBYB.
